THIS READER REALLY HAS THE "EXPRESS" HABIT.

Stephenville, Texas, July 21, 1921. Dallas Express, Dear paper, it was a delightful pleasure for me to receive you Friday and will you kindly tell our Editor to give us a write-up this week. I am sure the little boy will send a report. He is so willing. We have to do little things for our young people to encourage them at some times. I thank you kindly for your kindness. I have been a reader for about 13 years in fact I think my mother taught me to read it before I went to school. I love it because it is our own paper. You may never read this, but nevertheless, I have written it. Yours as ever, ERIE FRANCIS, P. O. Box 327, Stephenville, Texas.

BLACK DIGNITY IS EXPERT IN HORSE JUDGING.

(By A. N. P.) London, England, July 21.—The Emir of Katana, a black dignitary from Nigeria in Africa, picked two of the winners at Lingfield last Wednesday by merely glancing at the horses. It was the first race meeting he and his suite had attended but he is an expert horseman and his advice was much sought by less skilled colonial officials, who are visiting him about London. He had an audience with King George and was deeply impressed, taking the King's hand in both of his own and with a caring gesture. He witnessed a polo match at Hurlingham this afternoon and the Russian ballet. Two of his wives accompanied him to the ball. They sat in a separate screened box. This was the first public appearance of the wives.
